

Fund Strategy

The RBC Small Cap Core Fund seeks to provide superior long-term growth of capital compared to the Russell 2000 Index while taking a low risk approach to small company investing. We believe that portfolios of neglected small cap companies with low valuations, long-term attractive business fundamentals and near-term profitability improvement potential should produce strong absolute and risk-adjusted returns over time.

Performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than performance quoted. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, visit <http://us.rbcgam.com/mutual-funds/equity-funds/fg-5/fsg-1/fid-7/individual/performance/rbc-small-cap-core-fund.fs>. Class A reflects a maximum 5.75% sales charge. Class C reflects a sales charge of 1% CDSC for shares redeemed within 12 months of purchase.

Performance shown reflects contractual fee waivers, without such fee waivers total returns would be reduced. Performance information does not reflect the 2% fee on shares redeemed or exchanged within 30 days of purchase. If such redemption fee was included, performance would be reduced.

EPS Growth is not a measure of the Fund's future performance. Projected EPS growth rates provide the mutual fund investor details on the underlying stock holdings and their estimated growth in earnings per share. This does not imply an increase in earnings to the mutual fund investor, it only illustrates the expected increase in EPS growth rates of the underlying stocks that are owned within the mutual fund. It is the belief of the RBC Mid Cap Growth portfolio management team that there is a correlation between earnings growth rates and stock performance.

Risk Characteristics vs. Benchmark

10 Years through 9.30.11

	Alpha	Beta	Standard Deviation	R-Squared	Upside Capture	Downside Capture	Sharpe Ratio
RBC Small Cap Core Fund	1.20%	0.94%	20.25%	93.66%	94.32%	89.75%	0.35
Russell 2000 Index	0.00%	1.00%	20.84%	100.00%	100.00%	100.00%	0.30

Alpha - measures the difference between an actual return for a stock or a portfolio and its equilibrium expected return.

Beta - measures the sensitivity of a stock's return relative to the return of a selected market index. When beta is greater than one, it means a stock will rise or fall more than the market.

R-Squared - statistical measure that represents the percentage of a fund or security's movements that can be explained by movements in a benchmark index.

Sharpe Ratio - measures the amount by which a set of values differs from the arithmetical mean, equal to the square root of the mean of the differences' squares.

Standard Deviation - The statistical measurement of dispersion about an average, which depicts how widely a portfolio's returns varied over a certain period of time. When a portfolio has a high standard deviation, the predicted range of performance is wide, implying greater volatility.

Up/Down Capture vs. Market - Up Capture compares an investment's performance against its benchmark during periods when the benchmark's performance is positive, while Down Capture compares the investment's performance against the benchmark during periods when the benchmark's performance is negative. A value of greater than 100% indicates that the investment captured more return than the benchmark (this is a positive for Up Capture, however, a negative for Down Capture). Conversely, a value less than 100% means the investment captured less return than its benchmark (a positive for Down Capture, but a negative for Up Capture).

Portfolio Characteristics Definitions

Price/Earnings – measure of the price paid for a share relative to the annual net income or profit earned by the firm per share.

Price/Book – compares a company's book value to its current market price.

Price/Cash Flow – compares a company's market value to its cash flow.

Return on Equity – measures the company's profitability by revealing how much profit a company generates with the money shareholders have invested.

Debt/Capital – measures a company's capital structure, financial solvency, and degree of leverage, at a particular point in time.

Current and future portfolio holdings are subject to change at any time, and are subject to various risks such as interest rate risk and issuer/credit risk, as further described in the prospectus.

Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Investing in mid cap, small cap, and micro cap companies involves additional risks, including greater fluctuations in value and lack of liquidity. These risks are more fully described in the prospectus. Although the Fund does not generally invest in initial public offerings (IPO's), it has the ability to. Investments in IPO's typically involve greater price volatility resulting in increased turnover and expenses as well as the potential for taxable gains.

Before investing, you should carefully consider a fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. This and other information is included in the prospectus, which you can request by visiting <http://us.rbcgam.com/mutual-funds/literature/order/equity-funds/default.js> or calling 800.422.2766. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.
