

RBC Funds Tax Information

Calendar Year 2018

Income from U.S. Government Securities

During the calendar year, certain RBC Funds invested in securities issued by the United States government or other federal agencies (collectively, "U.S. Government Securities"). Many states do not tax the portion of your Fund's ordinary distributions that comes from U.S. Government Securities. The table below lists the percentage of Fund ordinary distributions that were derived from investment in these U.S. Government Securities.

California, Connecticut and New York require that a mutual fund meet certain minimum investment thresholds in U.S. Government Securities in order for the dividend income derived from these obligations to be exempt from state income tax. None of the Funds listed below met those requirements.

To determine the amount which may be exempt from state income tax:

- (1) For each Fund you owned during 2018, subtract the total amount of short-term capital gain distributions you received during calendar year 2018 (as reported on your account statements) from the amount reported in Box 1a ("Total ordinary dividends") of Form 1099-DIV.
- (2) Multiply the result by the percentage in the table below to calculate the amount of U.S. Government Securities income that may be exempt from your state and local taxes.

| Fund Name                             | Percent of Ordinary Income from U.S. Government Securities |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| U.S. Government Money Market Fund     | 33.91%   |
| RBC Short Duration Fixed Income Fund  | 0.00%  |
| RBC Ultra-Short Fixed Income Fund     | 0.43%  |
| RBC Impact Bond Fund                  | 10.82%   |
| RBC BlueBay Emerging Market Debt Fund | 1.52%  |
| RBC BlueBay Diversified Credit Fund   | 0.55%  |
